L. TOEIC Part VII Reading Comprehension: Read the following articles and answer the corresponding questions. Write your answers on your answer paper. (20pts)

Questions 1-4 refer to the following advisory.

Having the proper documentation when you travel abroad is very important. Remember that immigration and customs officials are very document-minded, so failing to obtain the proper paperwork before entering a country or losing your passport in a foreign city can cause many complications. When traveling, you should always know where your passport is. Always carry it in a safe place on your person or, if not going far, leave it in the hotel safe. Do not leave it lying about in your hotel room or easily visible in a pocket. If staying in a country for several weeks, it is worthwhile to register at your embassy or consulate. Then, if your passport is stolen, the process of replacing it is simpler and faster. It is also recommended to keep photocopies of essential documents as well as some additional passport-sized photographs.

Remember that it is your responsibility to ensure that your passport is stamped in and out when you cross borders. The absence of entry and exit stamps can cause serious difficulties and could invalidate your visa. Therefore, it is important to seek out the proper officials if the stamping process is not carried out as you cross the border. Also, do not lose your entry card. Replacing it can cause a lot of headaches and expense. Citizens of countries that require visas, such as France and Korea, can expect more delays and problems at border crossings.

Questions 5-9 refer to the following two letters.

October 17, 20__

Dear Roberto,

I have some interesting news for you. My company is sending me to Greendale to work on a project in our branch office there. I will spend about three months at that branch office. I wondered if you could give me some advice about housing. The office can arrange a hotel for me, but I'd rather find something more comfortable. Since my family won't be with me, I'll only need a small apartment. Our office is downtown, right across from Greendale Park, so I'll need to be able to get there easily by public transportation. I won't have a car. I would like to pay no more than $1,500 a month. Is that possible in Greendale? I would appreciate any advice you could give me.

I'm also looking forward to seeing you. I plan to stay two weeks after my assignment is finished to travel around the area. I plan to spend most of that time at the beach. Maybe you would like to join me on this vacation. I'll see you soon.

Your friend,

Luis

Luis Silva

October 31, 20__

Dear Luis,

I was very happy to receive your news. I know you'll enjoy your time in our wonderful city. I have a good recommendation for you. There are several hotels that have special suites that are like small apartments. They all have kitchens and are very comfortable to live in for a few months. They are also inexpensive—about $300 less than the price you said you could pay. All of these hotels are located in the North End of the city. There are hotels in the business district, close to your office, but they don't have these comfortable suites. I am enclosing some brochures so you can pick the hotel you like the best.

I look forward to seeing you and joining you on the vacation you have planned.

Your friend,

Roberto

Questions 10-11 refer to the following passage.

Flying over Venezuela's Lake Maracaibo, one is struck by the deep orange color of the water spewing from a river into the lake. This is not a natural phenomenon but the result of aggressive mining practices carried out in western Venezuela, where tons of earth and rock are flushed away every day in the search for valuable diamonds. As the river carries the earth and rock away from the mining areas, it carries it into other areas, most particularly to Lake Maracaibo. Tons of silt flow into the lake every day, with dire consequences for the natural environment and the people who live there. On the one hand, the silt of Lake Maracaibo increases the risk of flooding, thus endangering the lives and livelihoods of people living in the area. In addition, the mining is also destroying fishing grounds that have been a major source of protein food for the country, as well as an important part of the economy.

10 What is the most noticeable characteristic of the river?

- (A) Its location
- (B) Its direction
- (C) Its rate of flow
- (D) Its color

11 What has been the outcome of the silt of Lake Maracaibo?

- (A) Fishing grounds have been increased.
